Preface

The 2002 Arizona Transportation Factbook has been developed to provide an overview of transportation demographics in Arizona.

Statistical information contained in this report was compiled from various governmental agencies at federal, state and local levels. Efforts have been made to utilize the most current and complete data available at time of publication. The majority of the data is from 2002, while some data was only available from 2000 and 2001 records. It should also be taken into consideration that most data for 2002 was not available until mid-2002 or later. These factors are the result of individual agencies data compilation and tabulation processes and whether they are fiscal year or calendar year based.

For more current data, it is suggested that the user contact the referenced contributing agencies to obtain the most current data, as needed.
